BUILDING FOR TODAY

AND TOMORROW

"So then you are no longer strangers and sojourners, but you are fellow-citizens with the saints and members of the household of God, built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Christ Jesus himself being the chief corner stone, in whom the whole structure is joined together and grows into a holy temple in the Lord; in whom you also are built into it for a dwelling place of God in the Spirit."

Ephesians 2:19-22, Revised Standard Version

As you observe school life as presented in this book, the editors of the 1954 Shield ask you to see beyond a mass of students to the individual student who is the determining factor in the presentation of Christianity to the world. The theme, borrowed from the motto of the campus expansion program BUILDING FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW, sounds the keynote for a more adequate campus. In addition to bricks and mortar the theme represents the development of noble Christian character and spiritual growth. We are proud to be a part of a school where men and women learn to trust God and to serve God.

IN RECOGNITION

of noble spiritual living and high standards of Christian scholarship, the 1954 Shield is respectfully dedicated to Rev. I. G. Peterson, instructor and friend.

REV. IRVING G. PETERSON

Using the tools of noble character, keen mind, and spiritual living, the faculty and staff build students' lives as God gives them vision and insight. In the hand of these men and women the raw material of individual capacities becomes the elements of life-building. The only and ultimate reward for their craftsmanship is a finished product—a disciple of unimpeachable
character, a Spirit filled soul,
and a mind and eye
with the vision of the future in it.

ADMINISTRATION

THE PRESIDENT SPEAKS To The Students

During your days at St. Paul, many exceedingly important events have occurred in your life and experiences.

You have made acquaintances and formed friendships that will enlarge and enrich your life and ministry around the world. The Administration, Faculty, and Staff have given to you of the wealth of their knowledge, training, and experience. You are now a part of us. To those of you who are so soon to graduate, we would desire and pray that you in turn will impart to others that which you have received. You have taken and will take with you memories which we trust will never fade. Many of these the Shield Staff has preserved for you in your Annual, the Shield.

You have been fortunate to live and study at St. Paul during a time of progress toward furthering some of our basic goals. In the campus development program you have enjoyed the new Men's Dormitory and the new Dining Room. The $100,000.00 mortgage on this building is now fully paid. In addition, three other buildings have been purchased. Together we have seen the faithfulness of God. St. Paul today stands debt free.

You are now sharing in the beginning of the Library and Classroom Building. The new Music Building, the Student Center, and the Auditorium are on the horizon. Our development program is moving forward at a steady pace. The new four-year curriculum in Theology, Missions, and Christian Education is in the process of completion. My only regret is that you as Seniors will not be here to enjoy it day by day.

But I am certain as Alumni you will return often, and always be thankful to God and grateful to those of us who remain that you are a member of the Institute family and that St. Paul belongs to you.

Seniors Reflect upon Three Years

The graduating class of 1954 comprises a group from many walks of life representing various portions of the country and several denominations. It has become a unified group, having shared burdens and blessings over the past three-year period. As they leave, the Seniors will take many vivid memories and some well-learned lessons with them. Many are going on to school to become better equipped for their chosen field of service.

The class during its senior year has responsibilities for which it has trained and prepared in the other two years. Their lives are observed and their advice is sought by underclassmen. Struggling through semester finals, discussing theological problems, fearfully preaching before friends, producing the year-book, and participating in other activities will provide nostalgic memories in coming years. Most of all, they will reflect on bountiful spiritual outpourings upon the class generally and individually. Each person can trace back his spiritual progression and can look with appreciation upon the teaching and experience he has had.

A climactic moment in many lives is the ten-minute testimony each member gives telling of the Lord's working in his life. A class project is also chosen and completed which will beneficially contribute to the school. Prayer meetings are held every Friday morning at which the particular needs of the class are remembered. The final spiritual emphasis is placed upon the weekend retreat held during May and also upon Class Night the last week of school. Finally graduation arrives and eighty seniors, having received a more serious outlook and better understanding of life and the problems and adjustments it presents, will walk out accepting the challenge of the religious, secular, and academic realms and facing life with a confidence and trust in the Lord who has led them thus far.

of Spiritual Growth

Students who are receiving their degrees can look back upon at least four years of schooling. A four-year music degree course is offered at school. However, those receiving degrees in the Department of Theology and the Department of Christian Education have had their Bible School work supplemented by sixty hours of accredited college work and must have completed a thesis in their major. Beginning next year, this plan will differ in that the SPBI curriculum will offer all subjects required for these degrees. A degree is not considered a substitute, however, for that place in the Lord where one can say, "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom."

Theology Course Emphasizes Bible

The three-year theology diploma course has as its ultimate goal a working knowledge of the Bible and practical knowledge of theology. Fifty of the ninety required hours are Bible and practical theology subjects. An academic approach is given to the studies of the books of the Bible, church history, Greek, etc. However, a practical outworking of the theory is stressed in such subjects as homiletics, apologetics, and pastoral theology. The course is culminated by an experiential study of the Holy Spirit in the senior year which enables a student to establish his thinking.

Many theology majors study the original Greek of the New Testament to gain a new and better insight into the Scriptures. Rev. Irving Peterson here guides his second-year class in construction of sentences.

Mission Majors Train for Service

The Missions course, also a three-year diploma course, is for those who desire subjects geared to the needs and problems of prospective missionaries. Basic studies of the Bible, theology, and practical theology are required; but the course differs from the standard theology course in that the students study the history of missions, anthropology, principles of missions, and other such specialized courses. Also a year of language is required, and beginning phonetics is offered. In the near future, a four-year degree course will begin which will provide a broader training and learning program.

Rev. Jack Shepard, new instructor in the Missions Department and recent missionary to the Philippines, gives seniors useful and pertinent information and advice concerning situations they will encounter upon the foreign field.

Students Prepare for Leadership

The Department of Christian Education trains those who wish to prepare for Christian leadership. As in other courses, there is a definite spiritual emphasis offering a variety of Bible and theology subjects. In addition, students study educational work in the church, general psychology, and a survey of the home mission field. The students receive a broader appreciation and knowledge of the field of Christian Education. Upon graduating, a diploma from the Evangelical Teacher Training Association is awarded. Students in this course usually go into the educational work of the church.

Mrs. Addie B. Raines instructs the senior Christian Education majors in the seminar class, which is a compilation of all the courses specializing in this field.

Juniors Anticipate New Building

The class of '55 will be the first graduating class to enjoy the facilities and features of the new building. Undoubtedly, many of these students will choose to extend their courses and graduate in 1956, availing themselves of the newly prepared curriculum.

The junior class is placed in a very strategic position. They are looked up to by freshmen and encouraged by seniors; yet they often find themselves personally facing problems of adjustment and decisions as to the Lord's will for their lives. It is a time of deepening friendships among fellow students; but more than that, it is a time of strengthening the Christian life and going on for Christ.

Provides Variety, Excitement

Much of the behind-the-scenes activity of school life at Saint Paul Bible Institute centers in the dormitories. The ladies occupy two buildings—the second and third floors of the main administration building, and Bethany House. The men's dormitory also houses the dining room and kitchen. Due to the surplus of students, most of the junior men room in private homes near the campus. Married students must also necessarily live out, and there are those from the Twin Cities who reside at their homes.

One could never do justice with words to the day-by-day incidents and experiences which arise in the dorms.

Everyone must cope with his or her roommate, a situation which can be one of the greatest aids to personality and spiritual development. Such matters as weekly room inspection, observing study hours, constant discipline—all contribute to the training of the students.

Nor can one ignore the humorous incidents which occur. The students often find it necessary to release tension in their respective dorms. This is apt to create a mood of entertainment. Small gatherings in rooms of friends, sharing pints of ice cream, relating events, discussing problems—all contribute to a general spirit of friendliness and fellowship.

It is comforting to the person with spiritual need that there is within speaking distance another person who can give and advise or who is going or has gone through a similar experience. Many students can testify to the spiritual victories gained in his or her own room where he may daily contact God.

Freshmen Face Adjustments,

"Going away to school"—a phrase often considered but seldom realized. However, each year a group of students, who have severed the bonds with home and feel themselves led by the Lord, comprise our Freshman class.

Bible School is not always completely what they expect. They anticipated a larger place, the students to be different—many things. What they really find is a group of students very much like themselves, who seem quite content with what seems to be a very hectic and hurried type of life.

This student begins his process of realization by being thrust into a society of strangers and wonders if he will ever get used to it and vows in the next breath that he will never become a casualty. As he struggles on, life becomes less complex, order comes where confusion reigned, friendships begin; in general, the student begins to adjust himself.

He learns the secret of trusting the Lord for day-by-day needs, the secret of meeting the Lord in the quiet places. He sees around him successful Christian lives, but he soon learns that he must look beyond men unto Jesus.

The initial year is not an easy one, but any upper classman can testify to the fact that some of life's most valuable lessons are learned in this perilous period.

The speech classes are a necessary but often humorous part in the freshman schedule. In this picture, Richard Schafer articulates as Rev. Joseph Wenninger and the rest of the class prepare to comment or constructively criticize.

SPECIALS

STUDENT COUNCIL---

The registration lines are the center of activity the first week of every semester. Here students take to the register, receive music assignments, fill out seemingly endless forms, and finally receive their semester bill. Following this process, a student becomes an official "SPB-lite".

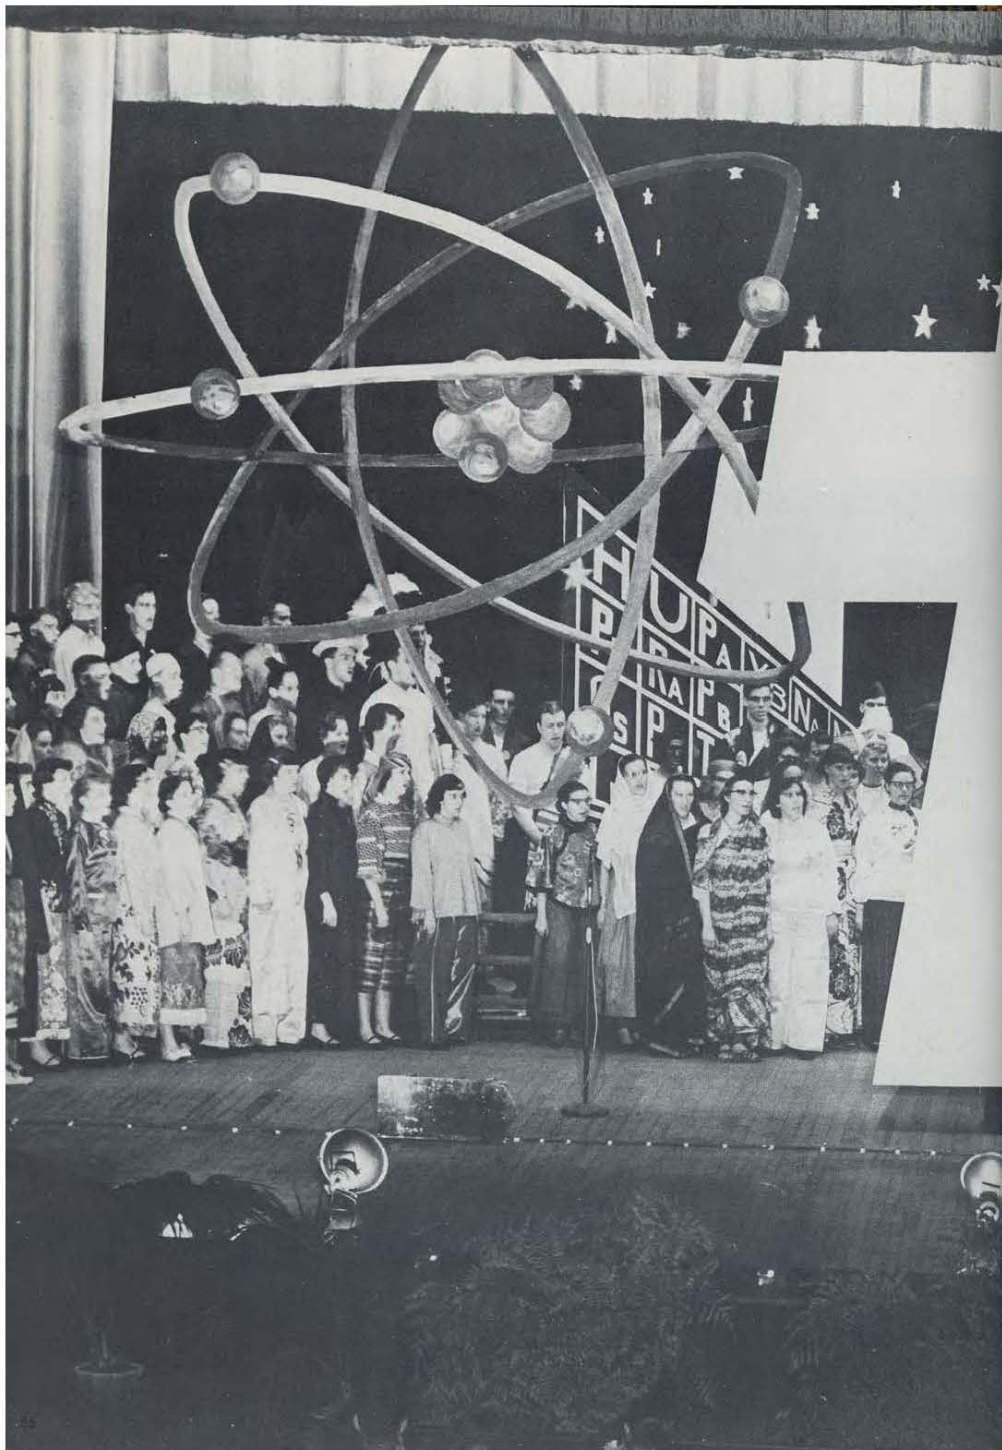

And thus ends the class section: Various phases of the spiritual, academic, and domestic life have been presented although not completely covered. The life of a student who has submitted himself to the training program of SPBI is not easy. A soft life is not promised or provided.

However, the spirit of satisfaction in the student body speaks for the successfulness of the program the administration carries out.

The elements necessary to hold the units of a building together, to provide for lasting utility, and to enhance the appearance of the structure in higher education are known as "extra curricular activities". Ranging from organized societies to spirited traditions, each activity makes its contribution to the St. Paul Bible Institute scene.

ACTIVITIES

WORLD MISSIONS NIGHT

The Christian Church's triumph over spiritual darkness was the theme of World Missions Night, 1954. World Missions was presented April 9 and 10 in the Minneapolis Auditorium and St. Paul Auditorium, respectively, with audiences totaling 12,200 and 1,000 turned away in St. Paul. Born out of the gospel miracle wrought in the personal lives of the participants—World Missions marked the progress of the gospel of Jesus Christ. From the heart of the Ballem to the edge of the Arctic redeemed men were represented as tokens of this progress. Through the staging of World Missions the world awakens to the fact that "The kingdom of this world is become the kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ; and He shall reign forever and ever".

JESUS SHALL REIGN

RICHARD STEPP—"... Out of this citadel of democracy volunteers must go enlisted in the army of freedom with Christ their vision, evangelization their mission, and true freedom their goal, pressing forward the conquest for Christ."

EDWARD MASTERS—"... He who has lost a battle has not lost a war. Like a resistless ocean tide that rolls on to accomplish the purpose of its creator, moves the Church of God."

CHESTER JACKSON—"... Jesus of Nazareth is a king! ... 'Blessings abound where'er He reigns' ... It has called the whole church to a world-wide mission. We press for its completion."

MARILYN CHANDLER—"... The God that flung the stars into space, that created the vast universe, is the same sovereign God who permits man to invade the secrets of science."

PAUL ANDREAS—"... Until the sin-scarred earth shall lift its hoary head into the high heavens, behold the face of Jesus and shall say like Julian the Apostate, 'O Galilean, thou hast conquered'."

Colorful scenes provide realistic background for the portrayal of world mission.

Long before World Missions Night ever begins, many people spend long hours in preparation.

Did you ever iron and fit 400 foreign costumes?

Now you can recognize who the speakers are.

Some "natives" are made, not born that way.

With the right lighting it seemed you were out in space.

Strange methods, yet effective, all telling the great story of missions.

"It pays to advertise!" This policy brings worth-while results. Eye-catching posters produced by the students announce prayer meetings and coming events relating to missions.

Important requests received from missionaries are placed on individual prayer cards. Each prayer band has its own cards and distributes them at noon prayer meeting on the day one of its members is in charge. In this way each individual need is prayed for.

Students at St. Paul believe that "the effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." This truth is affirmed by the good attendance at noon prayer meetings.

FRIDAY NIGHT MISSIONARY MEETING

The Friday Night Missionary Meeting is the highlight of each week. This service is carefully planned and directed by the Student Missionary Society. With the best of visiting speakers, it serves to remind us that in these uncertain days we still have a commission to fulfill.

PHASES OF MISSIONARY ACTIVITY

Spring Term

STUDENT MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Each semester we elect new officers to the Student Missionary Society. These persons are chosen by the student body on the basis of their ability to stimulate an increased interest in missions. They capably direct the missionary activities of the School and keep before us the news of present-day happenings on our mission fields.

Fall Term

Seated: Norma Hart, Corresponding Secretary; Patricia Johnson, Secretary; Shirley McFadden, Vice President. Standing: Darrell Holtz, Treasurer; David Bean, President; Edward Masters, Financial Secretary.

ISLAND WORLD

To the rallying motto, "Wings for Shangri La," the Island World Prayer Band has persevered in prayer on behalf of a project of the Christian and Missionary Alliance to purchase a new amphibian plane to be used in reaching forgotten people in the Baliem Valley of New Guinea. Today the "big bird" flies over stone age New Guinea. The program now under way in this area of the world promises to make missions history through the use of unusual methods to reach an unusual people. The Island World Prayer Band has pledged itself to a steadfast ministry of prayer to see this work accomplished.

AMERICAN INDIAN

The American Indian Prayer Band has a reputation for enthusiasm and for arousing interest in the work of its particular field. Through correspondence, contact with near-by missionaries, and actual on-the-field experience, members of this band are well acquainted with the needs of their field. The consistent expansion of Indian Missions provides these students with an impetus to remain faithful in prayer on behalf of the 400,000 Indians of our country.

EUROPEAN NEAR EAST

Row 1: Collins, Petersen, Tachick, Davidson, Velde. Row 2: Herren, Jones, Rehne, Hessler, Essick. Row 3: D. Pett, E. Pett, Long, Brant, Andreas.

A little European orphan eats regularly and is clothed by the warm-hearted members of the European Near East Prayer Band. This is a new kind of project for them in one respect, but, on the other hand, they are merely following the Scriptural injunction to care for the fatherless.

This unusual project, plus the increase in membership of this group points up a reviving interest in sending the Gospel to Europe.

INDIA

Row 1: Robbins, Tyrrell, Thomas, Amstutz, Willeke. Row 2: Barth, Root, Ackelson, McCauley, McKnight, Masters.

Faced with the problem of relying entirely upon the National Church to accomplish the task of evangelizing the millions of India, the India Prayer Band has taken active steps to aid in the training of a national worker in a Bible School. This year has seen the initiation of a project which was first intended to support one Indian Bible School student, but has resulted in the possible financing of two. With a sense of urgency, each member of this organization has combined earnest prayer support for the missionaries presently working in India with the practical assistance exemplified in the aid given a national worker. Geared to cope with the problems of reaching the modern Asiatic while anchored to a living faith, the India Prayer Band moves ahead meeting the tasks entrusted them.

FRENCH INDO CHINA, SIAM

Communism! Nationalism! Economic Insecurity! Here are issues in which this prayer group has taken vital interest. Their vision has taken into consideration the effect of these factors on mission work. As a result, they have pledged themselves to pray with renewed effort for the lost souls of this area. This last year has witnessed a gratifying response to their labors. There are reported to be more converts, more inquirers, and more baptisms than ever before.

LATIN AMERICA

Row 1: B. Smith, M. Pendell, Beerbower, Olson, Guthu. Row 2: DeBoer, Olson, Brewer, Norell, Hart, Helmken. Row 3: Lindburg, Knudsen, Volstad, D. Pendell, P. Smith, Burke.

Alerted early in the year to the need for the replacement of the antiquated Christian and Missionary Alliance printing press in Chile, this group of students interested in that field began praying for Divine help. In a very short time the needed $20,000 was supplied and the necessary equipment on its way. In this fashion this group, banded together to pray regularly for Latin America, has a part in a ministry that not only supplies printed matter to the area in which it is located but to all Latin America and many Spanish-speaking groups in the United States.

AFRICA

Row 1: Roberts, McFadden, Erickson, Cross, Benson. Row 2: Rice, Hoffman, Owczarek, Wolff, Chandler. Row 3: Sylven, Asplund, Everline, Needham, Ball.

Seeing God accomplish the unusual has been the experience of the African Prayer Band. News has reached the prayer band that the native government of the Upper Volta Colony of French West Africa has decided to build and support a medical clinic to be used by American missionaries. This has been a demonstration of God's undertaking in a very unexpected way on behalf of those who pray.

This organization, long noted for its many alumni in active foreign missionary service, is presently looking forward to two recent members sailing for the Sudan.

"God has done great things for us whereof we are glad."

CHINA

While Communism has engulfed much of the Orient, the prayers of the China Prayer Band have become more determined with the assurance of the fulfillment of "things hoped for . . . and not seen." Its members have remained in touch with the gospel work still being carried on in these areas. Up-to-date news from nationalist workers in Hong Kong came to the group recently by means of tape recording.

With spirits undaunted by closed doors, the group has turned the problems confronting mission work in this area of the world into stepping stones to trusting the Lord for greater things in the Orient.

HOME MISSIONS

Although oftentimes eclipsed by foreign missionary interest, homeland missions find warm prayer support in the members of the Home Missions Prayer Band. This group of praying students has learned of some home workers faced with unsurmountable financial difficulties. Through correspondence, news of just such a case reached the Home Missions Prayer Band. To them this presented a challenge to call upon God. As the result of earnest prayer, needs in this specific case were met and the worker was enabled to continue reaching the lost of our own country. A new sidelight this year in the activities of the band has been the publication of a pamphlet acquainting the student body with the needs and problems of home missions.

With their graduation approaching, several of the Seniors in the Missions Course make application for foreign missionary service.

Christian Service

The student accepts his assignment for the purpose of proclaiming the Way of Salvation to those who know not Christ, and also to show that the Gospel which they proclaim is workable—in their own lives. The most forceful weapon in preparing the heart of man to receive this message, as well as the heart of the man who proclaims this message, is prayer. Wednesday night of each week Christian Service meets to pray. Each group sent forth again meets for a time of prayer preceding their departure.

Miss Elaine Madsen assists Mr. French in the Christian Service Department.

The Christian Service Department, supervised by Mr. French, provides opportunity for students to develop another phase of their practical training while in school. Christian Service is presenting the Good News, the message of salvation, in almost every imaginable way. Assignments given to students send them to hospitals, to the street corner distributing tracts, to the mission on Skid-Row, to the church. Some are further privileged to take part in religious education under the released time program for religious education, while others have permanent assignments in the capacity of Sunday School teachers and Child Evangelism teachers.

The library is the scene of activity Friday evenings as students volunteer their time to assist the tract society in preparation of Gospel tracts. These tracts are placed in the new tract box (below) where students have access to appropriate literature.

Tract Society—seated: Barbara Bowers, Norma Hart, Alice Hilden. Standing: Howard McKnight, Jerry Grossoehme, Howard Everline, Larry Knudsen, John Newson, Chairman.

The Story of an Assignment

Along with a busy schedule of classes, many students assume the responsibility of what is known as a "permanent assignment", usually a Child Evangelism class, or a Sunday School class.

Besides providing training as future teachers these students see, with satisfaction, a week by week progress in their pupils. Follow Ruth Retal-lach and Gordon Blaha on the assignment to Savage Boys' Club, downtown St. Paul.

St. Paul Choral Club

Through the theme song of the St. Paul Choral Club, "Let the Beauty of Jesus Be Seen in Me", the personnel of the group presents their personal testimony and heart's desire. The entire program presented by the Choral Club is planned to challenge young people towards Christian living. This is beautifully expressed in anthems of praise, in spirituals, and in a hymn of the 16th century, as well as in the march and songs of patriotism and loyalty.

In addition to the forty-three voice choir, a variety of instruments, solos and special ensembles, the feature making the Choral Club unique is its use of multi-colored lighting effects which provide a distinctive setting for the music.

The personnel of the club is drawn from every department of the school and is under the direction of J. Merrill Tannehill. Dr. George D. Strohm, president of the St. Paul Bible Institute, also travels with the Club. Tours and individual concerts take the Choral Club to audiences, which number approximately 89,000 people, throughout the eastern mid-western and western states.

Girls' Choir

This year the Girls' Choir is under the leadership of Mr. Charles E. Gold. Mr. Gold is a new member of the music faculty and comes to St. Paul from Los Angeles, California. The music presented by the Choir is varied, ranging from the anthem, "All Glory, Laud, and Honor" to Robert Shaw's arrangement of the spiritual, "Set Down Servant". Led in a spiritual emphasis by Mr. Gold, the Choir has a unique and effective Christian ministry in testimony and song by challenging young people to walk close to the Lord and to find His will for their lives. Thirty-one voices blended together make a service of song that is long remembered and cherished in the hearts and minds of their listeners.

Perhaps the most familiar memories associated with Girls' Choir surround the Wednesday evening prayer and fellowship meeting at which time the hearts of the girls unite in prayer for coming concerts as well as the personal needs of Choir members, and the appearances at various churches in the Twin Cities at which time they present their prepared program.

The Shield Staff--

The job of preserving memories of school life is the task of the Shield Staff. This begins as a dream in the minds of the editors and branches out to the various members. These take up such jobs as selecting the best pictures, copy and layouts for portraying school life.

This year has presented the usual number of frustrating moments as well as gratifying experiences. Out of these has been erected the 1954 Shield as a reminder of the past and inspiration for the future.

COURTESY OF THE FRESHMAN CLASS

Congratulations to the presidents of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Schools upon the launching of their initial national advertising program.
The St. Paul Bible Institute is proud and honored to hold hands across the continent with our three sister schools.

This is the first in the initial series of four full page advertisements to be sponsored in behalf of all
to be sponsored in behalf of all four schools. This one was run two-color on the inside front cover of the April 1954 issue of Christian Life Magazine.

forty years of service

Two score years — nearly half the allotted span of a man's life — measures the soul-winning history of the Christian and Missionary Alliance in the Northwestern District. The pioneers in this movement felt they lived in a day of great opportunity way back in 1913. No less do we in 1954! Unprecedented challenges lie before us. It is our full intention to make the most of these great opportunities.

It is our hope that the members of the graduating class of 1954 feel as we do about the great day in which we live; that each one will make his "Commencement" a true beginning of consecrated endeavor for God.

This we wish for you, and this is the true spirit of the
