A Window On The World

The overall theme for the 1996-97 year was entitled A Window On The World: The Great Offer. This was seen throughout all the activities on campus from the Missionary Cabinet's $10,000 Russian project, to the many opportunities provided to the Student Body through the Senate and the Student Services Board, to each and every page of this book.

Chapel held four times a week provided us with a Window to the Lord.

Our classes provided us a Window to Knowledge from professional classes in such careers as Education and Business to Bible and Theology. Pictured Luke Buyert.

Mission Support Teams

The main theme of Crown College this year was a Window To The World. One way Crown demonstrates this is through Mission Support Teams or MSTs. MSTs focus on prayer, the basis for everything. At Crown we all endeavor to uplift the college, missions, and the people of the world to the Lord.

MSTs are groups that were formed as prayer bands for all major parts of the World. Once a week, each Monday morning, groups get together, discuss events and pray for the missionaries in their part of the world. There are six active groups at Crown: the Middle East, Africa, Latin America, South America, Europe/ West Asia, and Eastern Asia/Pacific Islands. Students have their choice of being in one of these prayer bands.

The sole purpose of these groups is to uplift a certain missionary family to the Lord through prayer and support. Some different ways that MSTs encourage the missionaries are by sending care packages, keeping in contact through mail, and praying. The definite advantage of being in a MST is being able to get to know the missionaries on a personal level. Oftentimes we view missionaries as "superhuman" witnesses to Christ. In actuality, they are just common people called by God to do His work. They struggle with the same issues as those of us in the United States and they feel the same as we do. Being overseas is difficult and full of pressure, but with the help of caring people we can ease their burden through prayer and encouragement.

Missionary Conference

Another Window on the World was organized by the missionary cabinet and is a three day conference. The missions conference this year was one instance of the immense creativity of the cabinet members. Students were informed about missions through demonstrations and simulations. There was a world hunger demonstration which left a large percentage of the student body eating bread and drinking water for lunch. The missions simulations allowed students to go through the whole process of becoming a missionary. The simulation began in orientation and went to passport issuing, an airport with trigger-happy guards, language school, and finally an open air market.

The missions offering during the conference was a huge success as we surpassed the initial goal of "raising the savage" (played by Aaron Krienke) and ended up "raising" two of them. Overall, the missions conference was a huge success that allowed each student to evaluate his own cultural awareness.

August 22-26, 1996 was the New Student Days program for the fall semester. The goal of this week, led by Pat McDonald, Associate Dean of Student Life, was to make new students feel at home here at Crown.

It was a week that many will remember for the rest of their college career. For some it was the week that made all the difference. Students were able to meet people who were also new to Crown and some students made friends that lasted throughout the school year.

The week was filled with sessions on rules and suggestions for making it through the first semester. Students were told how to manage their time and keep a balance between school, work, friends, and God. The week was also filled with activities to allow those students who were not from the Twin Cities to get acquainted with the area. There were trips to Valley Fair, Como Zoo, and the Mall of America.

Focus groups were also formed to help insure that students would meet each other. No matter what they did during the first week they were here, students who were new to Crown owe a lot to the New Student Days Committee. Without these dedicated returning students, many new students would have been lost in all the confusion of a new place.

The theme of the 1996 Homecoming was "Heavenly Nights" and was held at the Waconia Lakeside Ballroom. Student Services Board did a wonderful job planning the event, decorating the ballroom, and scheduling the entertainment.

The evening was MC'd by Professors Bill Hodgson and Dave Brusehoff. Everyone enjoyed the musical entertainment by the "Golden Strings" and the after dinner music performed by Crown's very own men's quartet "Stand Your Ground" Josh Anderson a member of the quartet commented that, "he was nervous about singing".

Homecoming Court included King Dustin Fields and Queen Carolina Carcamo joined by the class Princes' and Princess': Seniors Julie Maas and Dave Ingalls, Juniors Marci Stumbo and Josh Anderson, Sophomores Jodi Dahlen and Jeremy Glenn, and Freshman Jennifer Grindall and Nick Stumbo.

This year's 1997's Spring Banquet was a huge success. It was planned by the Student Services Board. Excitement was in the air as everyone got dressed up to go out on the town. The event for the night was held at the Chanhassen Dinner Theater, where students were able to get discounted tickets, to see the musical production State Fair. Light low, and energy high, Crown students radiated with energy. Spaced throughout the restaurant, friends wandered around chatting with friends and neighbors. Once the curtain was drawn, a hush fell over the audience as the play began. State Fair was a wonderful show and it truly made everyone's night. After the play, some students finished the evening off with dessert, which put an awesome end to the evening.

A Window On: Classes

Your challenge should you choose to accept it, is to spend the next two to five years listening to people wiser than you share their wisdom with you and then spend hours and hours of time reading textbooks and writing papers. This Great Offer could be yours. It is not easy! The new recruits talk about the fact that it is more work then they ever dreamed but the rewards are unimaginable.

Your challenge is classes, the reason we come to college. Every now and then we find ourselves asking "Why did we do this crazy thing anyway?" The reason is because you have chosen this great opportunity to learn new skills and be a positive contributor to society. This offer is given to many but few survive to the end. Those who survive are given this great window of opportunity to serve God in many different ways.

A Window On: College Work Study

Many of the on-campus jobs held by students at Crown are made possible by the work-study program. There are over one hundred seventy-five jobs available each year. Some places students can find these jobs are at the reception desk, the Learning Assistance Lab, the library, the admissions office, the music office, and the mail room. Most of these students work up to ten hours each week. This program has benefits for the college as well as the students. Students who do not have any means of transportation can find money making opportunities on-campus. The college does not have to search outside of the Student Body for the workers needed to help keep the school functioning effectively.

A Window On: Resident Assistants

This year's RA team experienced a real sense of compatibility and unity beginning with their retreat at Tabor Lake. As the year progressed, the team shared emotional, spiritual and social support which reflected on their ministry to the residents on their floors.

Each RA formulated floor events, Bible studies and prayer times. Some floor events included Roommate Roulette, 70's night and Beach Day. Ra's from each floor also created a "Vision Trip" in order to expose students to a new experience. One floor visited a battered-women's shelter. Another floor went to a Latin mass and witnessed another type of worship.

Personal testimonies of the wonderful, fulfilling experience of service and leadership made it obvious that this year's team of RA's were committed and enthusiastic about their job.

A Window On: Student Services Board

This year Student Services Board worked hard to ensure us of a wonderful year full of many special events and activities.

Student Services Board is responsible for many campus activities. They sponsor events like Homecoming and Spring Banquet and activities like Soft Rock Cafe, Masquerade Madness, the Blood Mobile, and Late Night Study Breaks during finals. SSB benefits not only the students but also the class representatives who serve. Courtney Bedford responded by saying, "It provides a great opportunity to work with people and plan social events. It is also a good outlet for creativity." Freshman SSB member, Jennifer Grindall, gave her thoughts on joining SSB "to serve God by serving the student body". Jen felt it was rewarding to be involved as a freshman because, "you get to know people and learn how to organize large-scale events". Whether the members joined for fun or experience, they were all dedicated and did a fabulous job providing us things to keep us busy.

Where does James Pettit spend his time when he is not in the Senate office? Where can someone observe seven women trying to fight against one man, Kevin Kelly from taking over the college? Where can you find thirteen dedicated students working together to keep the student body informed of current events and controversies? The answer to all these questions would be found at a Lance meeting.

The Lance is a monthly student publication whose main purpose is to bring an update to every student as to what is going on in the college community and the world. Topics have ranged from Jennifer Adam's impressions of Student Development to Shannon Bartlett's commentary on the latest up and coming musicians to the thoughts and viewpoints of the students in "The Lance Asks."

-Erin Kelly

A Window on: Shield

The yearbook staff worked long hours to make the 1996-97 edition of the Shield possible, meeting every other Wednesday for meetings and updates, feverishly writing stories, and taking roll after roll of film.

The first meeting was held in September, with a brand new group of students excited to get started and veteran editor April Miller and photo editor Ruth Bondi who helped to get the ball rolling. Each member of the staff was excited to begin the process of putting together a book that would bring back memories of this year each time students looked at it.

For the first time staff members could earn incentives for completing an article or completing a photo shoot.

A Window On: CCSA Senate

The goal of the 1996-97 Senate was to provide the students opportunities for personal growth as well as growth of the college.

This "Great Offer" included weekly student led worship times, weekly Senate addresses in chapel, monthly Lance reports, posted office hours, and open forums to discuss issues. The biggest issue Senate dealt with this year was the Student Union TV.

Led by James Pettit, the members of Senate started year off with a retreat to Tabor Lake to focus on goals issues. Some members had the opportunity to travel to Dalat School in Malaysia to work with the Missionary there. Senate provided a mat for the front entrance as gift to the college.

James summed up the Senate mission with this quote: "This year Senate wishes to be authentic in who we are to do what we say we will do." With Jesus Christ as a continual focus, the 1996-97 Senate was able to successfully represent the Crown College student body.

The Music department put in many hours of hard work. The Women's Choir and the Mixed Choir both had the opportunity to go on tours this year.

The Women's choir went on a five day trip at the beginning of April led by Jan Hendrickson. They toured Oklahoma and Iowa. They performed five times with the String Ensemble which joined them, led by Charlene Hess.

The Mixed choir went to Europe in May after the Spring Semester had ended. They went to Austria and Germany for two weeks and had the opportunity to stay in host homes. They were joined by the Majestic Brass and had an excellent opportunity to expand their world view.

A Window On: Band

The Band Department had one of the greatest opportunities to represent Crown College musically and spiritually in the world.

Symphonic Wind Ensemble went to the East Coast and played in six different states over spring break. The Symphonic Wind Ensemble was led by Kathrina Skaar, while Trygve Skarr led the Majestic Brass. They spent some time in our nation's Capitol, had the opportunity all the major monuments, Capitol building, and the Smithsonian Institute. They were able to expand Window On The World as many went to States they never been to and met many new people. Several mentioned they enjoyed getting to know the families who hosted the students on tour.

To the right: During the multicultural chapel week, the Hmong Student Fellowship put on a skit showing the rugged journey they took from their homeland to America. Photo by Sandra Aldrich.

On campus there are many different cultural nationalities who help create the Student Body at Crown. Of these groups, Hmong students carry the largest number. The Hmong Student Fellowship is a chance for the Hmong students to get together and have fun. Periodically, they meet up at Faith Village to have a Bible study, pray, and worship God.

The Hmong Student Fellowship is also active at Crown. During the Missionary Conference they helped out with the simulation process Wednesday morning. Their project was to teach the students how to speak the Hmong language. With a great amount of patience, they taught students how to buy a piece of fruit. It was a great time of getting to know a different language.

Day after day of living with different nationalities is a wonderful opportunity for learning about a new culture. They help Americans understand different cultures as we help them comprehend our culture.

The Spanish Heritage Club's main goal is to support and encourage each of its members. They have done different presentations throughout the year to encourage the growth of the Hispanic population here at Crown College. The group also traveled to Chicago to meet and talk with the many districts involved in The Christian and Missionary Alliance. They have also been involved in classes here on campus such as the Human Relations class, where they shared with fellow students what their native country and culture is like and how it differs from other cultures.

When they are not giving presentations, the group spends a great deal of time enjoying each other's company and being able to fellowship together. Some of the members say that they enjoy going bowling and trying ethnic foods together.

"This year's S.I.F.E. team met new challenges and was a great success; laying the foundation for a promising future."

The main objectives of S.I.F.E. is to educate people in the advantages of the Free Enterprise System, provide leadership training, and to be a source of information for area businesses. They accomplish these goals by participating in many activities. It doesn't matter where or when it needed, this group does what it takes to get activities range from bulletin board presentations working in the inner city. Even the snacks at the games were a promotion of S.I.F.E. The away broadcasted over the radio were organized by S.

The members definitely keep extremely busy during activities, projects, meetings, and retreats. The team had the opportunity to participate in different petitions during the year which lead up to their goal: Nationals in the spring!

The Missionary Cabinet had a great year. They provided a Window on the World for those of us who have never left the Midwest, let alone the country. The missions offering this year was used for the training of national leaders in the Russian Church.

Monday's were the Missionary Cabinet Chapels. The first half hour was sponsored by the Cabinet themselves in the form of skits or speeches given by Missionaries. The Miss. Cab. Chapels were always exciting and added spice to an otherwise boring Monday. The creativity of this cabinet never seemed to end, they used the WTTW television station to inform us about World Missions. The remaining half hour was spent in MST's (Missionary Support Teams) where students gathered to prayerfully support CMA Missionaries.

A Window On: Faith Village & Student Family Association

"Community, family, a safe enviroment, a good source of fellowship and support" all of these words are used to describe Faith.

Open door policy seems to be the attitude of many of the families who live there. It is no wonder Faith Village receives such honorable expressions.

The Student Family

Joy and Branden Buyert

Association was formed for Crown College's student families on and off campus. Since May, S.F.A. has been actively involved in seeking out ways to meet those needs. One way S.F.A. exemplified this was when it organized a huge garage sale. Another project they worked on was becoming involved in New Student Days. During those few days a clean-up project was organized and accomplished at the St. Bonifacius Park. S.F.A. has several goals for building successful Christ-centered relationships among residents. They plan on building prayer groups, prayer chains, and above all open communication. -Sandra Aldrich

A Window On: Women's Basketball

This past year has been quite exciting for the ladies of the Basketball Team. With the season filled with countless hours of practice and hard work, the ladies were ready to take on anything. Faced with challenges on every side, Crown won many games but were also defeated a few as well. Never letting those defeats bring them down, they picked themselves up, and tried again.

All the games the team played together slowly brought the team closer to making it to the Nationals in Florida. However, in the final game before Nationals, Crown was defeated. Emotions were in turmoil after finding out that this year, they would not be attending Nationals. The had a second chance to go but again their hopes were dashed. Then the word came that another college had declined the offer, and Crown could go! With the excitement mounting, the team was ready to win.

In the heat of Florida trying their hardest, ladies won quite a games.

The strength shown by Crown was enough to know that through the strength of our Lord Jesus Christ, we can accomplish anything.

Although the season did not officially begin until November, the Crusaders started unofficial practices in September. Coach Don Rekoske had his first season with the 'Saders and was able to lead a dedicated group of godly players whose efforts were rewarded throughout the season. It was a season filled with hopes and dreams, one that will be long remembered by the players and fans alike.

The men had many tournaments throughout the season. The first was held at Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, Illinois. The 'Saders took first place out of the four teams there to get the season off to a fantastic start. A trip to Florida over Christmas break allowed the men a chance to bond on and off the court. Aside from playing basketball, the team participated in activities ranging from golf to bungee jumping. Back from Florida, the team had two and a half months of the season left. They continued to play hard, each player contributing what he could when needed.

Throughout the course of the season, the fan involvement grew and the men were able to take advantage of the crowd support and finished the season strong. At the regional competition, the team took first place allowing them to move to the national competition in Oklahoma City.

The Crusaders left Crown with expectations of themselves. They spent the first few days in Oklahoma practicing. They were ranked eighth of eight teams and they expected to be a few people. The first game at nationals was played against the team that was to take the title. The 'Saders gave team good competition and ended losing by only three points. They won the next two games. This gave fifth place at the tournament and expectations for next season.

A Window On: Soccer

This year soccer has meant much more than just a sport. Together as a united team, the Crusaders made their best effort to win. With determination and hard work, the team gave everything they had for Crown. Though the first year of soccer proved to be a disappointment on the scoreboard, the Crusaders tried their best. With the guidance of Coach Joel Johnson, the team practiced and practiced. Everyday Coach Johnson was out on the field encouraging and working with the guys to improve their skill. He never lost faith in his men as he drove them hard to become the best they could be. By the end of the season it was clear he was successful- he had built a team.

Even though the season showed many losses, the players were improving and growing into a team. Each day a group of strangers worked together and became a family of brothers, each with the same goal and giving all they had to achieve it. Through this first season of defeats, the team never lost their "Never Quitting" attitude.

The lady Crusader volleyball team ended the season with a feeling of success. "The season was successful because of the relationships that were built and the great time we had as a team," said Mandy Thielbar. Calah Carlblom's fondest memories of the season are "the trip to Michigan because it bonded us together and we came in third place, which was our best tournament of the year. I also enjoyed playing 3 on 3 every practice to warm up." During a season a team member is able to get to know the other players well. "When working so close with the other girls, a mood of one player affects everyone else," said Loriann McKinnon. Jodi Dahlen recalled, "You learn to work together and how to depend on each other." Mandy added, "You are able to see the best and the worst of people, which helped us grow together." Calah Carlblom reflected on the year, "It is understandable that we will miss each other now that we are done."

A Window On: Cross Country

"... let us run with perseverance the race marked out for us." Hebrews 12:1b. Ten students spent their fall running with perseverance. They were a part of the Crown College Cross Country Team. They attended meets in Minnesota, Iowa, and Wisconsin. Some of the most enjoyed moments of the team were during road trips when the team was able to get to know each other better.

They were led by Brent Liberda. This was his first year coaching the Cross Country team and he did a wonderful job motivating his runners. The team benefited from his personable coaching style.

Not only was cross country good exercise for the team they also had a great time.

- Rebecca Morgan

To the left: Both teams routinely prayed together before each race.

When the snow began to melt and the grass began to turn green, the minds of some of Crown's men turned to America's favorite pastime. Baseball season was marked with home runs, strike outs, and rbi's all at the right times. The team traveled to Florida over Spring Break and played five games there. This allowed the season to start a bit earlier, as there was still snow on the ground in Minnesota when the team left. Upon arriving back from the trip, they found the ground clear of snow and the grass beginning to perk up. The team this year was able to pull together several wins and worked together well. Each player tried his hardest to play every game to the glory of God. Even when the games did not go well, the team had a camaraderie that helped them make it through. This was the last season for Coach Joel Johnson, who is leaving Crown at the end of the year, and the men did their best to make it a memorable one.

TIME'S UP

The 1996-97 Shield is dedicated to this year's retiring President, Dr. Bill Lanpher for his ten dedicated years of service to Crown College.
