If you want to set up custom search parameters to reuse, do a search for * which gives you a blank canvas to work with. I selected filters to limit to electronic resources, full text, from the last 5 years—all my filter selections show up at the top where I can take any out by clicking the purple “X”:

The screenshot displays the Crown College Library search interface. At the top left is the logo for Crown College Library. In the center is a search bar containing an asterisk (*). To the right of the search bar is a user profile for Kathleen, with a 'My Account' dropdown menu. Below the search bar, a row of filter tags is highlighted with a red oval. These tags include: eBook, eJournal, eMagazine, eVideo, eNewspaper, Full Text, and 2021 through 2025. Each tag has a purple 'X' icon to its right. Below the filter tags, there is a checkbox for 'Retain Filters' which is checked, and a link for 'Clear Filters'. The text 'About 16,900 results in Crown College Library' is displayed below the filter tags. At the bottom right of the page is the Crown College logo and name.
